BALTIMORE, May 10.—Francis Ouimet, national golf champion, will be the principal figure in the annual spring tournament of the Baltimore Country Club, which will begin this morning with a record-breaking number of entries. There are 128 players in the tournament, the largest number entered in the history of the club. Entries have been received from prominent golfers from well known clubs throughout the east, and a big crowd of the followers of the ancient Scotch game will be at the links at Roland Park to watch the play. The course is in splendic condition, and the greens are much faster than they were when Ouimet and Corkran played over them Saturday, so devotees of the game believe the matches will bring forth some streaks of brilliant profits one streaks of brilliant profits of the game believe the matches will bring forth some streaks of brilliant profits one streaks of the streaks of the profits of the same played in Philaceking in the ga bring forth some streaks of brilliant golf. CONNOLLY, GEORGETOWN PLAYER REPORTS TO GRIFFITH'S TEAM

Probably Will Be Used in Outfield and Should Increase Batting Strength of the Club-Other Gossip.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Tom Connolly, the Georgetown player, reported here to Manager Griffith this morning. He is under contract to the Washington club, and just as soon as Griffith gets a line on his capabilities in the outfield he is pretty sure to receive a trial with the Nationals. There seems to be no doubt of Connolly's ability to hit and run, and he says that he is at home in the outfield. But that must all be determined, though there is no doubt that he will be a big improvement in his

he will be a big improvement in his hitting over most of those now playing on the team.

The reporting of Connolly probably means that Henri Rondeau will be let out to some minor league club. Rondeau has failed to come up to expectations. It does not look as if he will ever be a major league hitter, judging from the games he has played since the season opened, and Shanks undoubtedly is his superior when it comes to fielding and throwit comes to fielding and throw-ing. Rondeau's greatest fault is that it comes to fielding and throwing. Rondeau's greatest fault is that he lacks aggressiveness. He has fallen into a rut, which is one of the principal failings of the Griffmen this spring, and Grifffith is not apt to give him another trial. It is now only a question of where Rondeau can be disposed at the best figure.

Walter Johnson had more stuff at Detroit yesterday than he has displayed at any time this spring. He had a world of speed, and struck out six men, which is more than have been fanned by him in any other game this spring. He was a trifle wild, however, walking five men—Bush on three different occasions.

Sam Crawford was the man who found Johnson no puzzle, hitting him safely three times, but none of his drives had any effect on the score. It was the second straight shut-out against Johnson. In the last eighteen innings his teammates have not obtained a single run for him, consequently there has not been a possible chance for him to win.

The Nationals' hitting seems to be did the Nationals yesterday. The players have grown timid at the plate, take all the good strikes without wiggling their bats, and then swing on some wide ones which, if they happen to meet them.

If Connolly, the latest acquisition, can hit at all he is sure to be of great help to their team, for there is no doubt about his speed.

Griffith made another change in his had any earn and the sake and has shifted Ravanaugh all back to second, where hend clider, on first base and has shifted Ravanaugh abck to second, where hend clider, on first base and has shifted Ravanaugh abck to second, where head on the store. Griffith made another change in his batting order, if such it can be called, but all to no avail, as the base hit column in the box score plainly shows.

In the field the Nationals played a good game, nothing that resembles an error being charged against them. The work behind Dubuc was also sensational, or he would not have gotten have an awful time now getting a run, but when the turn comes runs will

This is not to be an idle day for the Nationals. Manager Griffith is determined to make an improvement in his team while it is not playing, and for several hours this morning had it out on the White Sox grounds practicing hitting. Tom Connelly joined the squad, and he was the center of all eyes when at the bat. Who do you think is going to come back as a pitcher in a real regular league? Stony McGlynn, who has been signed by John McCloskey for his El Paso team of the Rio Grande Association. Jack Bliss, formerly of the St. Louis Cardinals, and later in the Coast League, will be McCloskey's field manager. Frisky old Kitty Knight will

A player has to show a lot to be worth anything these days. It is said the Decatur Three-I League Club offer-ed to take $1,000 for Pitcher Kirmayer if the New York Giants would keep ed to take $1,000 for Pitcher Kirmayer if the New York Giants would keep him, while the Peorla club informed the St. Louis Cardinal management that it would consider any sort of an offer for Shortstop Daringer, but neither major club was willing to invest a cent more in the players.

land League needs only to beat the Boston Braves and then it can claim the championship of all classes. Last fall it beat the New London team, winners of the Eastern Association pennant, in a post-series. Last week it beat Providence, winners of the International League pennant, in an exhibition game. Now it issues a defi to Stallings and awaits his acceptance.

The rival Winnipeg factions having falled to reach an agreement an injunc-tion was issued restraining Harry Webb and the Northern Association from operating a ball club at Winni-peg, but upon Webb and the league giving bond of $29,000 as guarantee against any damages that might be awarded Pulford and Erzinger, a stay was granted, and the Winnipeg club will continue to operate pending a final trial of the case.

The signing of Frank Baker by the Upland club of the little Independent Delaware County League caused something of a storm among the other clubs in the league, the managers of which declared that while they are independents, they are not outlaws and would have no contract jumper in the ranks. The management of the Upland club was told plainly that it could either drop Baker or drop out of the league.

The Kansas State League will have the distinction of playing the shortest season of any organization in the game this year. The league decided not to start. Hutchinson and Emporia, however, had gathered their teams and decided runs. Cleveland, 3. Double p. Barry, Lajoie and Melnis: Barry and Me ever, had gathered their teams and de-cided to play a series of five games for the "championship of the league." After this series the Hutchinson team was disbanded, but it is understood the Emporia players will be taken on an exhibition tour by Manager Ira Bid-

The veteran Jim Connor, for many years with the Providence Grays and at one time manager of that team, has been signed to manage the Pawtucket team in the Colonial League, New Bedford will this year have two teams in the league, since the promoters could not get a park in Brockton in which to play. One of the New Bedford teams will be known as the Tiptops and the other as the Whales, which leads to a suggestion that Weeghman as well as the Wards may be backing this little Fed circuit.

Pitchers discarded from the St. Louis Cardinals are doing wonderful work taking them altogether. The other day Franklin Johnson, pitching for Omaha, held Sioux City to one hit. Wildness, however, marred his game. Three passes in the first inning and an error gave Sioux City two runs.

Base on Balls to Weak Batter Proves Disastrous-Crawford Stars at Bat. St. Louis... 10 14 .417 .440 .400

CHICAGO, May 10 .- Walter Johnson ost another shutout game yesterday For the second tme, in two games, his teammates failed to get him a run and he went down before the Tigers at Detroit by a 1-to-0 score. Tigers made six hits off Johnson, it was not these, but a base on balls which he handed Catcher Baker, a lamentably weak hitter, which paved the made in this inning.

Bush hit to Johnson and was out at first without either runner advancing, but Vitt hit a long sacrifice fly to Shanks on which Baker came home. That was the only run of the hit. The few occasions that he was hit hard the ball was right at one of the waiting fielders, and on one occasion Ty Cobb made a catch which, perhaps prevented Johnson from hitting for the ircuit in the eighth inning.

Griffmen Get One Hit. Dubuc held the Nationals to a single

In all, but three of the Griffmen reached first base—Milan, once on a walked and again on a hit. On the third occasion McBride reached there on Jaobson's error, when Bush's assist was With such light offense there was really little chance for the visitors ever to score.

Milan walked in the second and was Milan waiked in the second and was sacrificed to second by Gandil. Morgan's out put him on third, and that was the only time that goal was reached, for Alnsmith was an easy out. In the fourth Milan singled with one out, only to be forced on Gandil's drive to Bush, and the last man to get on the bags was McBride, in the fifth after two hands were out, when Jacobson made his wobble.

The Tigers on the other hand were more busy. Bush walked his first time up and, after Vitt and Cobb had been retired on flies, Crawford singled. But an attempted double steal was thwarted when Ainsmith threw to Johnson and ed again in the third and he also stole second after Baker and Dubuc had fanned, but he could not get nearer the

The loss of Connolly to Georgetown will be an even greater blow than is generally thought. Connolly has been the great offensive factor in the line-up of the Blue and Gray this spring. There have been few games in which he has failed to hit, and in many he has gotten three or four safeties. A big percentage of the drives have gone for extra bases, too. When the greatest weakness of the average college team is usually a lack of hitting ability, some idea of the loss of Connolly to the Hilltoppers may be known when it is stated he was hitting somewhere between 400 and .500.
